- Support the local economy

The shea butter used in our products:

- Is harvested by local women
- Helps empower the community
- Creates social interaction
- Advances the local culture

The shea nut used in Arbonne products is harvested in West Africa by a women's cooperative, from a wild growing tree protected by law in the sub-Saharan belt. The trees begin to give fruit after 15–20 years of growth. No fertilisers or pesticides are used in the process, and the trees are pollinated by bees. The seasonal collecting period, boiling, and processing of the nuts occurs early in the morning by the local women. Most of the processed shea is exported, creating a valuable income for the families as well as the local economy.
